PIGGY EXPOSE DOCUMENT

This document exists to reveal the misdeeds and actions of the developers of the popular Roblox game Piggy. This document contains mentions of racism, grooming allegations, and manipulative behavior. If you would not like to be exposed to these things, please click off immediately.

Most Piggy developers are not involved in the situations shown below. Do not send hate their way and do not accuse them of defending anyone's actions.

Do not harass anyone mentioned in this document, including victims, the developers, or anyone else who may show up here. This should be common sense. Harassment is not okay, and doing this to any of the people mentioned here, victims or not, will not be tolerated. Do not spread threats.

Please reach out to minitoonexposedoc@gmail.com for any additional questions, comments, or concerns. Please note that we may not answer every email. If you are a developer who would like to reach out to us to talk about your experiences with any of the parties mentioned here, or officially working on the Piggy franchise as a whole, you are welcome to do so.

What is Piggy?

For those out of the loop, Piggy is a 2020 survival/horror game created by Kohl Couture, AKA "MiniToon" on the gaming and game development platform Roblox. The game as of now is directed by AyJFried, CEO of Team i2R, although MiniToon is still managing the game's development. In addition, MiniToon is also developing the recently released open world game Piggy: Intercity, a follow-up to Piggy.

While many view the developers of Piggy as some of the nicest on this platform, nothing could be further from the truth. Many of the developers are lying and deceiving manipulators.

Section 1: MiniToon

Subsection 1: Initial Grooming Allegations

As mentioned at the beginning of this document, MiniToon is the lead developer and current manager of Piggy. Many people often refer to him as one of the nicest Roblox developers, although this is not the case.

In February of 2026, a Google document containing past actions of MiniToon from 2018 surfaced, created by YouTuber Parlo. Within this document, MiniToon was accused of being a groomer due to several questionable messages sent to a 13 year old girl when he was 16.

While the original document has since been taken down, an archive can be found here.

It should be noted that while the actions of MiniToon are certainly morally questionable, he is not a pedophile nor a predator like previously claimed. MiniToon was 16 years old when the actions took place, and not 18 like others may believe.

That being said*, three additional things should be noted in regards to this situation:

Firstly, a 16 and 13 year old age gap is illegal in Canada according to the law. The official government website for Canada states that a 13 year old cannot consent to someone that is two years or older, and MiniToon's age gap was three years. Messages such as MiniToon expressing desire to be in the victim's bed, french kissing her, and pinning her down are certainly questionable and could be interpreted as sexual. You can find information about this topic here on the official Canadian government website.

Secondly, MiniToon did NOT respond to the allegations in a proper way, and did NOT deny his actions, rather denying that he was a predator or groomer specifically. At no point did MiniToon ever say "I did not have contact with this person." or "I did not date Invidia" publicly. Rather, he simply clarified that he was not a pedophile with malicious intent, which is technically true.

Finally, this is allegedly not the first time that MiniToon has dated someone far younger than him. In 2019, MiniToon dated another 12/13 years old at the age of 17. Although MiniToon says he believed the person to be 15, the screenshots revealed that he was aware of the minor's actual age. The only difference from the current situation is there were no (known) romantic conversations shown. Unfortunately, not many details were revealed regarding this situation. The interview made in 2022 regarding the matter can be found here.

and i like i told mini the 12 thing, like when i said that to him, when he said thats why we broke up, it was a joke, we never officially broke up because it was right after captain messaged him and stuff
Today at 5:27 PM
So yall stayed together?
: 5:28 PM
afterwards yes, because i told him the actual age, and we discussed the laws and stuff, found out it wasnt illegal and yeah
the reason he broke up with me, is because he told me he was aromantic

I already know minitoon, SHES 12 .... Theres a reason why I tried to pull her away from you by flirting with her . She admitted it to me, she first said she was 14, and then kept asking "what if i were to tell you that i was 12 or 11 ...?" five fucking times. Then she finally admitted it. If I never mentioned you to her ... she wouldn't have came to you. I DATED HER A YEAR AGO AND WASN'T AWARE UNTIL 7 MONTHS LATER. I was 17 at the time when i dated her so i felt it was fine. But fucking 12. DUDE. She cheated on DMs from MiniToon to “Captainjet2c”, a groomer who was exposed in 2021 and a former friend of MiniToon.

MiniToon’s initial response on February 17, 2026. Note how he says that he did not “do anything illegal” and that he is not a predator or groomer. Additionally note that MiniToon does not deny the claims of actually knowing the victim, talking to her, or talking to her the way he did.

Hopping on here and seeing all of these accusations against me of me "grooming" or being a "predator" is just so disheartening, as it is entirely incorrect and defamatory. I want to make it very clear that I did not commit any crimes or do anything illegal. Grooming and paedophilia is beyond reprehensible and entirely inexcusable. I have never engaged or participated in such heinous acts and I have absolutely no sympathy towards ANYONE who puts any minor in any kind of danger for their own personal gain.
It sickens me that some individuals are attempting to create a narrative that I am such things. As a prominent developer and as an adult, it is my responsibility to ensure that minors are safe in my community and that I have absolutely ZERO tolerance for anything that could possibly endanger them. Many of you are unaware of this, but I have worked to get rid of predators myself on the platform. I did not share any of this to the public as I don't want to expose my supporters to the heart-wrenching things I have seen, but rather focus on inspiring creativity and hopefully bring joy to people through my work. To be compared to such disgusting people genuinely hurts.
I appreciate those sticking up for me more than you could know. Your words mean the world to me, especially now more than ever. I am still committed to continuing to foster a positive and safe environment through my community, no matter what.

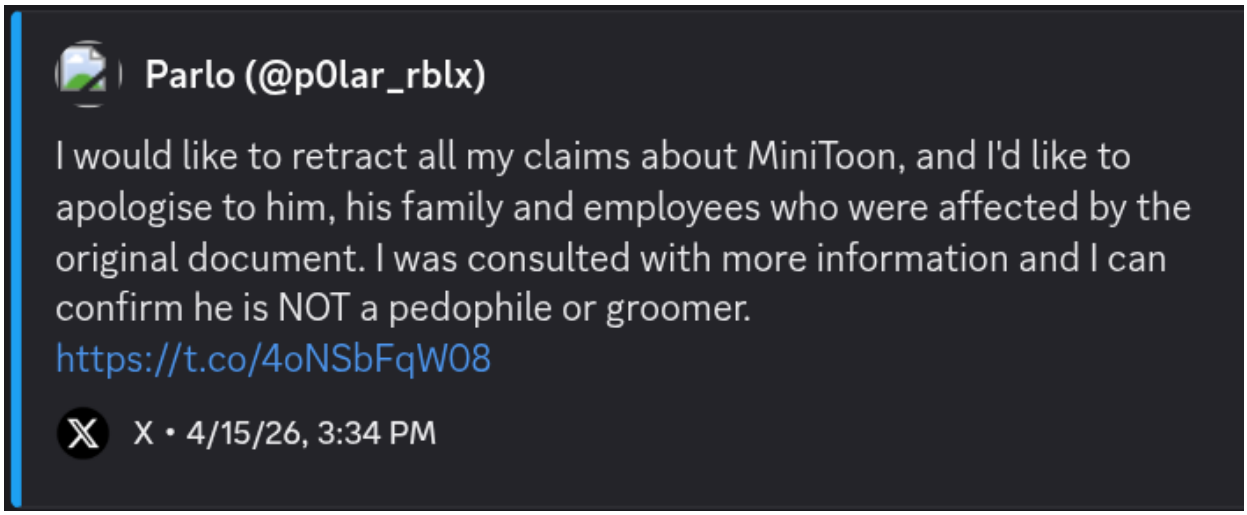
Eventually, a statement from Parlo would be released regarding the document, claiming that it was inaccurate and that MiniToon was not a pedophile nor a groomer. Despite this, Parlo's updated document was far shorter than the original, did not provide any evidence to disprove the allegations, and only stated that MiniToon was not a pedophile as opposed to saying that the situation as a whole was untrue. While the original document was certainly overplayed for how minor the allegations truly were, it is clear that MiniToon does not want this to be dug up.

It should also be added that the only thing Parlo did was making everything public without obtaining the victim's permission and without covering their name even though they asked to stay as anon. Attempts to bring these allegations to light had already been tried even before Parlo.

Parlo's original tweet, which has since been deleted.



Parlo (@p0lar_rblx)
I would like to retract all my claims about MiniToon, and I'd like to apologise to him, his family and employees who were affected by the original document. I was consulted with more information and I can confirm he is NOT a pedophile or groomer.

MiniToon Updated Report

Written by Parlo

On the 16th February 2026 a document was released defaming and incorrectly representing MiniToon, a popular Roblox game developer best known for creating Piggy and Piggy Intercity, a groomer.
Upon consulting people better versed in the situation and looking at more evidence, this claim is completely untrue.

MiniToon is NOT a pedophile, the age gap is not indicative of predatory behaviour or intent whatsoever.

The messages of MiniToon do NOT reflect or show emotional or sexual grooming under any circumstances.

To make this abundantly clear, MiniToon is NOT a pedophile or groomer.

I was wrong to disseminate and spread these inflammatory claims, these are career damaging allegations and I acted rash, impulsively and did not think of the negative consequences these harsh legalistic terms may have on someone as respected as MiniToon and people around him.

I acted erratically and was supplied information, archives and screen-recordings that wrongly represented the situation. I take full accountability and apologise for my actions.

The initial document has been removed, and all archives. I highly implore anyone who has archives to also take them down.
I was not legally threatened or coerced into this statement.

Images of chatlogs from MiniToon and victim are posted below. A link to an archive of the messages can be found here. If you need help downloading and viewing the messages, see the Help section.

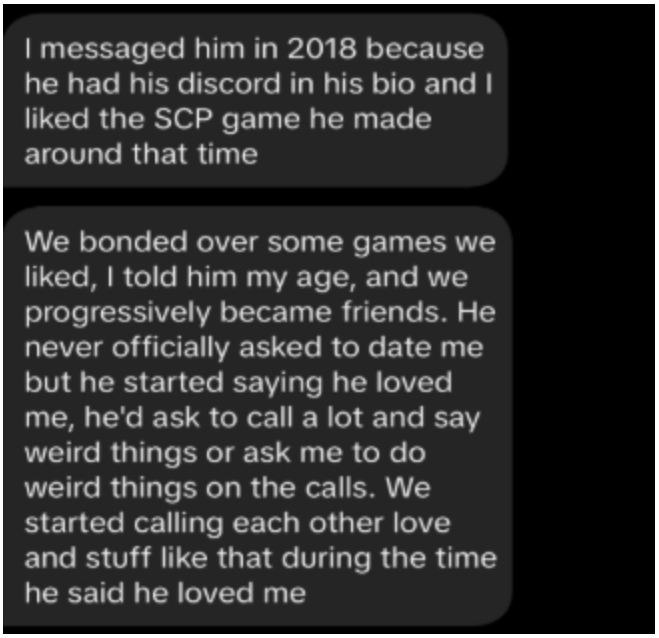
Furthermore, it is worth mentioning that an attempt to expose MiniToon was made earlier than initially believed. An expose document from January of 2026 was found within the downloadable link of the Schlep document, although it is unknown if the document was released or not.

This document presents the same claims as initially stated in the original document, although with additional testimony from the victim, who preferred to remain anonymous in this document.

A testimony from the victim in question.

I'm going to delete my comments with you because, but please do not discount victims or the alleged perpetrator unless there is an investigation done or something is confirmed.
I was groomed by Minitoon when I was 13 (he knew my age). He was 16/17.



I messaged him in 2018 because he had his discord in his bio and I liked the SCP game he made around that time
We bonded over some games we liked, I told him my age, and we progressively became friends. He never officially asked to date me but he started saying he loved me, he'd ask to call a lot and say weird things or ask me to do weird things on the calls. We started calling each other love and stuff like that during the time he said he loved me

The document additionally contains screenshots of the previously shown evidence, It should additionally be noted that an error in the document states that MiniToon was 18, although this is a result of certain websites mistakenly listing MiniToon's age as two years earlier than it actually is, such as famousbirthdays.com.

Another testimony from the victim in DMs with the original exposers, along with Schlep and Ruben Sim.

I turned 13 in March
I looked through this. Sexual relations are not legal in Texas between a 13 and 16 year old. It was also predatory due to the fact I looked up to him and there was an obvious power dynamic that he took advantage of
It kind of disgusts me that none of that is taken seriously. That is like defending a freshman and senior relationship. If you have personal reasons as to why you cannot stand it i.e. being his friend, then that's strange to me (edited)
I really feel like there was an obvious power dynamic, I was a suicidal kid that had abusive parents and this guy was rich and famous on Roblox who I was a fan of. He knew these things and he still chose to say how I'm the meaning of his life, he would buy me things, and wanted me to go to his house, wanted to marry me, wanted to adopt children, not to mention the calls. That is manipulation and grooming at the least. It's like when call me carson was dating a 17 year old, it wasn't just about the age but the implications and power dynamic.

The DM shown above was revealed in a group chat from January 2026. Evidence of this group chat existing can be found here and here.

Subsection 2: Ostie and MiniMoon

MiniMoon is a YouTube channel run by MiniToon, along with his girlfriend, Moonfallx (Moon). The former thumbnail artist for the channel, Ostie, had reported that mistreatment was happening behind the scenes. The following in blue text is Ostie's testimony.

Hello everyone, I'm Ostie. I've come back after four months to address the elephant in the room. Although I'll explain the reason below, it took me a few months to mostly recover from the situation I was in and to fully grasp the harm that was done to me. Now, I'm here to tell you my side of the story that you never got to hear. Nothing i write here is intended as slander; it is simply an outpouring of what I experienced and felt over the course of two years.

-So I met with Mini in 2022, I started gaining recognition on Twitter in 2022 as a "Minitoon" artist. Back then, Mini would praise my drawings one after another. For two years, everything seemed normal to me; I always looked up to him and his work.

In May 2024, Moon reached out to me on Twitter. She asked if I could create a banner for a new YouTube channel they were making, I was honored to work so I agreed. We then started talking on Discord. She asked me to make emojis and a few stickers for the channel and their server. After those, Moon began to be close to me. At the time, I was nothing more than a 16 year old loser high schooler; I didn't like talking to people much and due to past experiences, I didn't trust everyone easily. That was when Moon entered the picture. If I recall correctly, she was 23 at the time. I trusted her, and our friendship quickly deepened into something more personal. Neither Moon nor Mini ever drew a strict "employer-employee" line between us; instead, I felt a bit like a third wheel in their relationship. I joined the server staff in August 2024, and people increasingly began to associate me with them. Moon and I spoke every single day; she would talk about her daily life and sometimes her traumas, and I would share my anxieties with her. I trusted her with my heart. There was also obviously constant gaming on Roblox and deep conversations. Sometimes it all felt overwhelming since they started to involve me in their personal lives a bit too much but I kept it to myself for the sake of our friendship. I wasn't particularly close with MiniToon during this period, though he was aware of how incredibly close I had become with Moon. Within a few months, our friendship reached a point where Moon would refer to me as her "soul sister." I was so afraid of losing her and Mini that I would do whatever they asked without question; sometimes I wouldn't even accept payment for the drawings I made, and because the time difference meant it was morning for them when it was the middle of the night for me, I would stay up all night whenever they wanted to hang out—to the point where my health and academic performance began to suffer because I was going to school without any sleep. Moon kept this proximity for a long time. Mini, in particular, was aware of my loyalty to them—well he even tried to claim behind my back that I was just "love-bombing" them— Still, neither of them said or did anything about it.

By 2025, things started getting complicated. I was no longer just a channel artist or a mod. Moon also asked if I could draw the thumbnails; I quickly learned how to do that as well and began handling those too. I would take my iPad to school and draw during lessons, finish the work by evening, and then spend my night time with them.

After a while, minor arguments began to arise. The tension grew because Moon was assuming I share the same mindset as her, despite the seven-year age gap; she was in her mid-twenties, while I hadn't even finished high school yet. There was a vast disparity between us in terms of both power and maturity—I was even paying for my own school expenses with money earned from her channel. Furthermore, whenever a disagreement occurred, Moon would involve Mini instead of speaking to me directly. Obviously, Mini would take Moon's side and, in a way, manipulate me: "Why didn't you tell her you felt bad, Ostie?" "So, what are you going to do now, Ostie?" "Talk to me about your feelings, Ostie."

Eventually, I reached a breaking point; I couldn't stand him speaking on Moon's behalf all the time, so I snapped at Mini too, though I apologized to him the very next day. I told Moon several times that she shouldn't make me deal with Mini since I was kinda scared of him (after all, he was someone I had looked up to for years) and that she could always just speak to me normally. In the end, whenever there was a slightly difference of opinion, Mini would somehow find a way to silence me, and I would find myself apologizing to Moon, saying things like, "Maybe I overthought it; I'm sorry," or "I think I got the wrong idea; I'm sorry." so Moon would then 'lecture' me, saying things like, "Yes, you shouldn't do that," or "It upsets us when you feel that way"—and sometimes complain that I wasn't acting professionally.

For them, the matter was closed, but I had already started spiraling into a terrible mindset because of them. Our friendship was becoming increasingly unhealthy, and I was terrified of the possibility that they might end up hating me. When I mentioned this to Moon a few times, she didn't like what I said; I was afraid of upsetting her, and a rift was growing between us, it felt as if we were in some sort of competition. I started bottling everything up whenever I felt bad, which only made things worse. my other close friends suggested I should talk to Moon, but I was genuinely afraid of both her and Mini; it felt like the slightest word from me would start a fight. The "Moopy" plushie campaign was the only thing that had made me feel happy in a long time; I had genuinely enjoyed it. Yet, even though I had done most of the work, Mini spoke about me saying, "She only made a few adjustments; we let her do it because she begged us." which made me so sad hearing about it.

By 2026, I was already at college at 17, I was living alone for the first time, away from my family and in a city that felt completely different and foreign to me and during that time, Moon was my only friend. After a while, I realized our friendship wasn't what it used to be; that much was clear. I no longer felt convinced that Moon cared for me. I began to feel even worse, especially when the age gap between us came into play and comparisons started being made; I didn't want to make things worse and started missing the friendship we once shared.
When the 'grooming allegations' about minitoon came up to light in March 2026, Moon wanted me to be a moderator for a stream they were planning to make; essentially, she just wanted me to delete any comments that might come up regarding a specific topic. Even though two years had passed, I still hadn't shaken the habit left over from my high school days of staying up all night trying to curry favor with them. I spent the whole night deleting the comments. After a while, I started to feel like they didn't value me anymore; we were friends, but for the last few months, they hadn't been treating me very well (and when I say this, I don't mean financially, I'm talking about it from a psychological standpoint). I mentioned to Moon that she never messages me unless she needs something. As always, this made her upset; I apologized for upsetting her, but she started comparing me to her ex —who had been toxic and horrible person being— and insisted that I was getting upset over "silly things" and trying to manipulate or control her. I was so heartbroken that we didn't speak for about a week. Then, of course, I couldn't stand the silence and reached out to ask if we were okay; she said everything was fine. Afterward, she mentioned that she wouldn't be giving me any more channel work. I found this strange, given that I had been the one handling things, even dramas for them for two years. It turned out Mini had told Moon that work was the reason our friendship had deteriorated, claiming that work and friendship don't mix well and Moon had attributed the escalation of our arguments solely to that factor. At first, I tried to explain my side, but then I told Moon I understood her point and wouldn't press the issue. A few hours later, she unfollowed me everywhere, and I was kicked off the server. I completely lost it, i was confused. I messaged Moon, having the panic she caused, she started ghosting me again. However AS ALWAYS Mini messaged me.

Mini —who until a week ago used to thank me for helping delete comments during streams— was a bit mean this time; after questioning me out of nowhere, he also started ghosting my messages. I tried everything to reach a proper understanding during this process; I even had my ex gf offer to speak with moon if she wanted (Moon knew of her, as I had mentioned her often), but ultimately, Moon ghosted her too and kicked her off the server. Shortly after, Moon posted an announcement on the server claiming I was making her uncomfortable . That was the real issue: instead of explaining things to me like a decent human being, she acted on impulse, left me hanging without an explanation, and cast aside every possible solution. She had done this before too; she would send screenshots of the family or personal issues I had confided in her about to Mini, essentially seeking Mini's advice on how to deal with me. She was doing everything except communicating with me properly.
Afterward, I posted a tweet announcing my leaving from the channel and the Piggy community, thanking for the support I had received. This must have made them upset, as she issued another announcement about me, claiming that despite my role as the "main artist" and the fact that I had handled everything for two years, they had never actually brought anyone else onto the channel and were a channel that worked closely with the community (essentially, I had been treated like a basement-dwelling laborer). She even began reposting posts on Twitter specifically targeting me. Naturally, the slanderous things she wrote about me circulated on Twitter, and people started demanding explanations from me. I was forced to defend myself, dragged into a situation I never wanted to be in. When people started canceling their channel memberships, it infuriated them; they made a thread claiming I had 'manipulated' them by sharing literal screenshots of me talking about my family or mental health—things I had only confided in them. Mini reposted this on his account, which has almost a million followers, drawing even more attention to the thread. I was completely blindsided. I had no personal ties to anyone in the piggy community, and no one knew about the struggles I was facing, yet suddenly, all of Twitter was talking about me.

Mini and Moon's plan backfired, and people started talking about how terrible their behavior toward me had been; meanwhile, they were busy trying to hide the responses they were getting. About 20 minutes after the thread was posted, Mini messaged me. The person who had been ghosting me for days suddenly tried to approach me with a polite tone, claiming to understand me and saying he wanted to help. Yet, behind my back, he was messaging people who knew me —even those who weren't really my friends— to basically badmouth me, claiming I wasn't a good person or that I had hurt Moon, all while trying to gather information about me. Some people —simply because they could talk to Mini— fed him with false information despite not actually knowing me.

For two days, Mini wouldn't let me catch my breath for even a second, insisting I shouldn't respond or Moon and him would make tweets about me. Even when I repeatedly told him it was late and I needed to sleep and rest, he stubbornly persisted to talk, guilt-tripping me and making baseless accusations to paint me as the guilty party. Whenever I presented evidence to refute their nonsense, he would just change the subject and keep repeating the same things. even once he addressed me by my real life name —which only appeared on my bank account- (I mention this because it still creeps me; never give out your real name, no matter who you trust). I won't even get into how they monitored every account I had and scrutinized everything I posted; whenever I posted something to defend myself, he would immediately send it to me, demanding to delete it and claiming I was hurting them. Eventually, his patience with me ran out, and he wanted to start a gc—which turned out to be a chaotic mess in itself.— After suffering through repeated crying and anxiety attacks, I was finally persuaded when they promised to stand by me if people kept talking about me. I wanted to trust them one last time but of course, that turned out to be just another lie to silence me. I was still in shock and more importantly, I was scared, vulnerable; the support i was having was not enough. Minitoon held so much power and could have completely destroyed my online name if he wanted. I backed off. Well after that, Moon deleted every conversation we had shared over the course of two years (including the tweet saying that we've 'sorted things out'). I cried alot as I stared at the messages, which now made it look as though I had been talking to myself. (well i call it "destroying the evidence" now)

The past three months were an absolute nightmare. People kept spreading lies without ever hearing my side of the story; every day, I'd open my phone to find yet another hateful message. I couldn't draw for a long time, picking up a pen would trigger a flood of memories about the whole thing and I even stopped going to school for a while. I couldn't trust anyone enough to open up; I began reevaluating my friendships, not just online but in real life too. On some days, I'd hear conflicting accounts of what Mini had said about me behind my back while saying to me he wants to "protect" me. They probably hadn't heard my name mentioned since April, yet I was learning new details about the situation every single day. I tried reaching out to Mini once or twice, but there was no response. I was alone again, facing the prejudice people held against me because of the chaos they had created. I felt like i was silenced to protect their reputation. I lost many friends; they had completely drained my light, leaving me to grapple with thoughts I'd never imagined having. But above all, I blamed myself for never speaking up. People continued to congratulate and coddle them, while I remained stuck in the pit they had dug for me. I suppose the only lesson I learned was how to communicate and maintain the right distance with people younger than me, as well as the need to trust no one; I became much more guarded with everyone around me.

I wish things hadn't turned out this way; I valued and trusted those two people deeply, but in the end, I was met with nothing but neglect. I felt like I had been manipulated and taken advantage of. I will never forgive them for what they put me through.

I do just want to clarify that no one was ever "hired" for any position, the channel and its art has always been a collaborative effort between us and you guys (the community)! We want to give more people the opportunity to be commissioned art for the channel. We've never had a dedicated "channel artist", and probably never will.

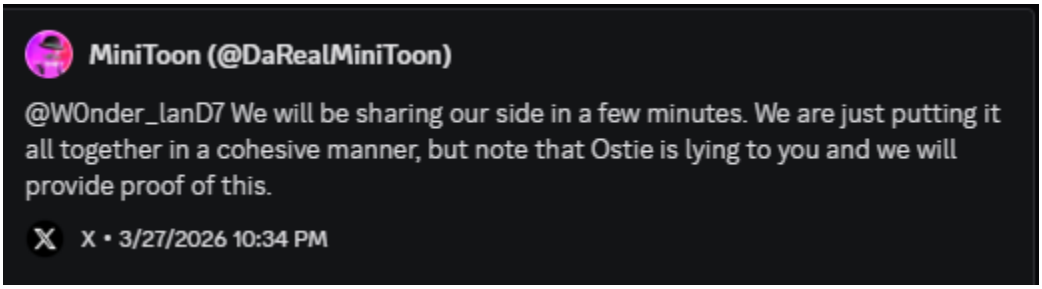
I modded their discord server for 2 years and i drew 98% of their channel and Discord server. I was told I was the main artist. It's completely unprofessional of them to talk about me like this right now.
I could talk about the psychological impact they had on me, but I'll stay silent out of respect. It's not normal for them to talk about their personal things in server announcements and portray me as a weirdo, especially considering they're 25 and a popular person in the community while i'm a teenager and just a regular fan.

MiniToon calling Ostie ‘’liar’’ afterwards.



MiniToon (@DaRealMiniToon)
@W0nder_lanD7 We will be sharing our side in a few minutes. We are just putting it all together in a cohesive manner, but note that Ostie is lying to you and we will provide proof of this.

okay so lets take everything back and let me explain, i have so many friends however i don't really talk to them about personal stuff like i did with you, so i don't really care if they text me or not, and telling this AGAIN i don't want to change you, my question was "you used to able to do that but why not now?" and you answered after long long talks and finally said you just don't like to talk with people everyday unless theres something interesting going on. so it leads us to other problem; if i need to be honest you have lack of communication when it comes to serious things, the reason why our other issues got big when mini involved in because you didn't want to talk to me about it and he basically made it worse without knowing, i want to sort things out if i have questions in my head otherwise i would start having wrong thoughts about you and i wouldn't want that. so i just say the thing i feel bad about in the moment. but you take it personally and think i'm trying to change you or don't like you, its like you're going into selfdefense mode and take the words you want and don't listen to other ones i said, it freaks me out lowkey because i'm so scared to make you go upset, thats why in every paragraph i'm trying to explain how much i love you as a friend

(Edited message had ostie's irl name, the link MiniToon replied is the screenshot Ostie apologizing to Moon several times. -showed above-)

As previously mentioned, while Mini was talking 'nicely' to Ostie, he was telling others different things about the situation; In these screenshots he claims it was 'false' after telling someone on twitter about the situation. He would then delete his messages, making it seem like he never said something, functionally lying to both parties.

My best advice is just to ignore it, I'm going to ask them to delete it just so we can put this stuff to rest because it's done and over with

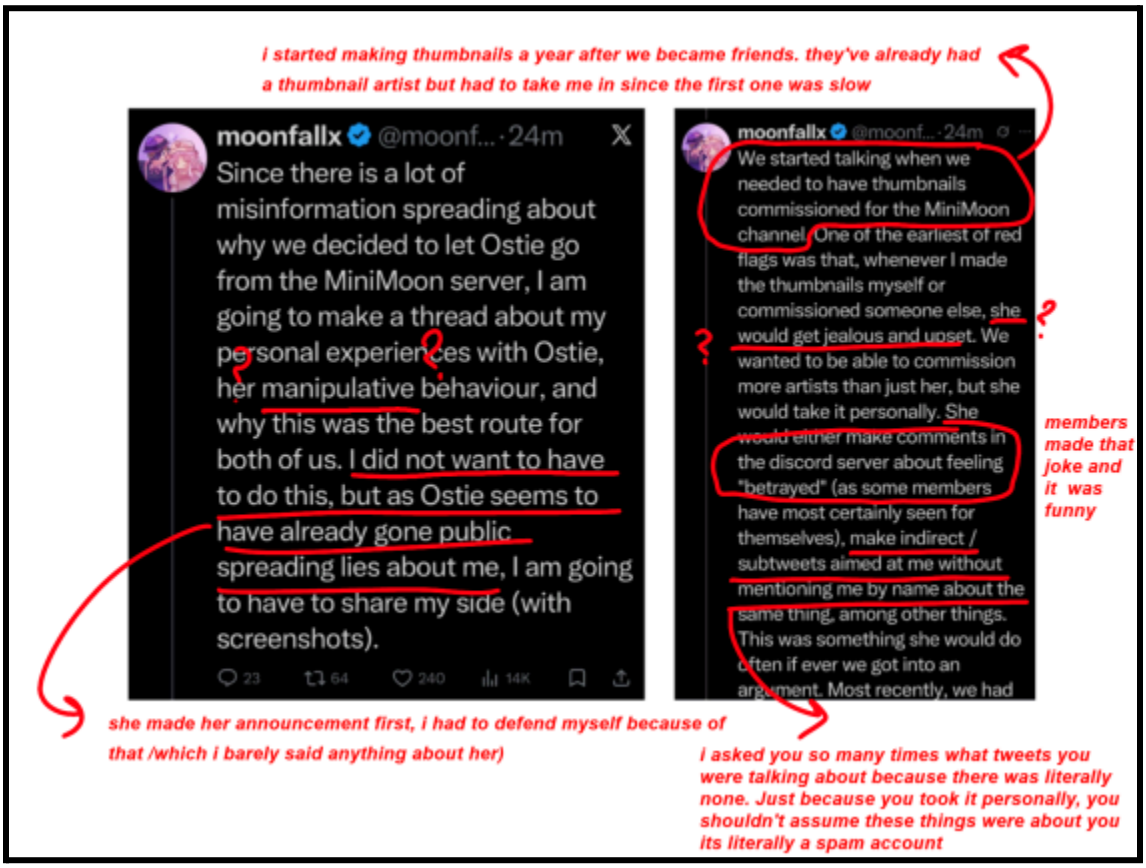
The thread mentioned above, Moon would later post a thread shortly after Ostie's tweet, containing her side of the story, although as mentioned, it is filled with lies and inaccuracies about the situation. Below is Ostie's response to Moon's initial thread.



i started making thumbnails a year after we became friends. they've already had a thumbnail artist but had to take me in since the first one was slow
moonfallx @moonf... · 24m
Since there is a lot of misinformation spreading about why we decided to let Ostie go from the MiniMoon server, I am going to make a thread about my personal experiences with Ostie, her manipulative behaviour, and why this was the best route for both of us. I did not want to have to do this, but as Ostie seems to have already gone public spreading lies about me, I am going to have to share my side (with screenshots).
23 64 240 14K
she made her announcement first, i had to defend myself because of that /which i barely said anything about her)
moonfallx @moonf... · 24m
We started talking when we needed to have thumbnails commissioned for the MiniMoon channel. One of the earliest of red flags was that, whenever I made the thumbnails myself or commissioned someone else, she would get jealous and upset. We wanted to be able to commission more artists than just her, but she would take it personally. She would either make comments in the discord server about feeling "betrayed" (as some members have most certainly seen for themselves), make indirect / subtweets aimed at me without mentioning me by name about the same thing, among other things. This was something she would do often if ever we got into an argument. Most recently, we had members made that joke and it was funny i asked you so many times what tweets you were talking about because there was literally none. Just because you took it personally, you shouldn't assume these things were about you its literally a spam account this tweet is so random because i've never talked about the Money ??? literally in my tweet it says "psychological" If I had known you would boast about it like this, I wouldn't have wanted even a penny of your money. -which i earned it with my Works-

moonfallx @moonf... · 25m
Ostie claims that we have mistreated her, which is a blatant lie. We consoled her on many occasions when she was feeling down. We have also raised the pricing for thumbnail artists specifically for her in order to help her get through college. On top of that, we have given her an opportunity to receive an equal percentage of the Moopie plush for helping out with small design changes. We have never given this offer to anybody before, only to her due to our friendship and she benefited greatly from it, earning thousands of dollars.

its like you haven't trauma-dumped on me over and over again..
you were calling me your sister / bsf what???? thats what friends do, helping eachother when the other one is feeling down

"Only small changes" atleast respect my work

thats the time when i said how she doesnt text me unless i do or when she needs something. if she said "I'm busy" everything would be normal but she started to accuse me with bad things instead of just talking to me like a normal person

moonfallx @moonf... · 25m
I have expressed to Ostie my discomfort about the tweets aimed at me which she denied. For example, we had an argument on march 19th about me being busy and not always available to reply all the time, and here is an example of one of those tweets posted the next day (I stopped speaking to her to get some space on this day). This is one of countless examples she basically put a tweet ss of mine saying "i hate when people are non-understanding. it feels like im talking to a Wall." time to adress the elephant in the room. i stole that tweet from pinterest.....

this is a lie LOL even the screenshot she shows i literally say "i noticed you are busy"" thats what i meant when i said " it felt like the slightest word from me would start a fight." they take things too personal and i had to explain myself everytime

Ostie would also get upset if I didn't respond quickly enough, or didn't message first. I live a busy life, so I don't always have the time to respond quickly, and Ostie knows this, yet persisted to get upset whenever I couldn't respond quickly enough for her.

One time, after expressing my discomfort with her and how I have had past traumatic experiences with people who have done the same things to me, she was very dismissive of my trauma. She stated that I should move on from my traumas because my ex isn't here anymore. This is possibly the worst advice you could give to anyone with trauma. It is incredibly disrespectful and dismissive of my feelings, and not something a friend should ever say to another. It is not something I can just "get over", and possibly something I will never get over.

...making it look as if she had shared her trauma with me during a normal conversation and i had responded that way. No, as I explained earlier, she was comparing me to a horrible person-her ex. My point was simply that not everyone is like that; I probably just worded it poorly. I actually apologized to her for it shortly after. but yeah need something to victimize herself

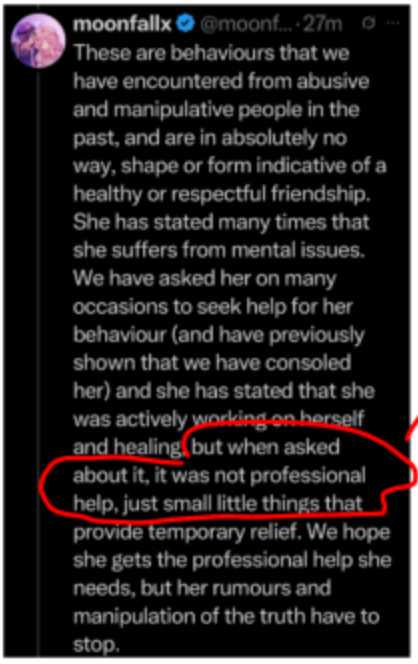
Over the years, these things issues have happened over and over again. They have worn away at my mental health. A friendship should not do that. After the most recent argument, I requested space, because this was too much for me to handle. Ostie then started apologizing, saying things like "I would die without you" and "I can't live like this". Having past experience with comments like these, these are manipulative phrases designed to cause me distress and get something out of me. I have had very bad experiences and trauma associated with remarks like these, which I am not comfortable speaking about publicly, but Ostie is well aware of it.

As a 25 year old adult, you could have kept your distance or avoided being friends in the first place. It's ridiculous to dump this responsibility on a 16-17 year old.

it was when she dumped me without an explanation. its basically a defense mechanism where my brain cannot mix positive and negative feelings about someone at the same time. I'm embarrassed to look at it right now, but they shared it publicly over and over again. it was hella personal

She admits to trauma-dumping on a 16 year old

As I mentioned before, no one was aware of my mental health situation. However, instead of taking responsibility, they chose to disclose my mental health situation to everyone. thank you guys! (not sharing screenshots for my safety)



moonfallx @moonf... · 27m
These are behaviours that we have encountered from abusive and manipulative people in the past, and are in absolutely no way, shape or form indicative of a healthy or respectful friendship. She has stated many times that she suffers from mental issues. We have asked her on many occasions to seek help for her behaviour (and have previously shown that we have consoled her) and she has stated that she was actively working on herself and healing, but when asked about it, it was not professional help, just small little things that provide temporary relief. We hope she gets the professional help she needs, but her rumours and manipulation of the truth have to stop.

Because you are such responsible people, you went after this instead of everything else.

@moonfallx

In the midst of all this, she has stated she already plans to "play the minor card" in an attempt to avoid accountability for her actions. There are many other things that I would like to add, so I may update this thread over time with additional information. I have told her many times, I do not like drama, I do not want to be involved in drama. I sincerely she gets the help she needs, but I will not stand for these lies being spread against me.
same as well
i'll play my minor card if she tries to lie about me
Thay screenshot was given to them by someone who doesn't really know me well, its also cropped. Even though I explained it further in the message, my point was simply that if you aren't prepared to take on the responsibility involved, you shouldn't be friends with someone younger than you. It seems I was misunderstood due to the stress of the moment.
It's also funny that they say, "I don't like drama; they know that." Yet, they get angry at the very drama they started themselves. They'll probably label this as drama too, but I can't stay silent anymore. They've hurt me so much; there needs to be some justice for everything they've done.

The full version of the message shown above, clearly cut off as an attempt to spin the narrative.

Section 2: Wizard Watch Studios

Wizard Watch Studios (who will also be referred to as WWS) is one of 2 current studios in charge of creating Piggy updates, and who some of you may recognize as the creators of the 2022 fangame Piggy: Branched Realities. In 2024, WWS was hired to work on a spinoff known as Piggy: Misfits, centering around the characters of Willow and Tigry from Piggy: Book 2. WWS as a whole is a very shady group, attempting to cover up various actions from several of their staff.

Subsection 1: Billie

Billie was the former community manager of Wizard Watch Studios up until 2025, when he retired after being exposed for various actions such as ableism, islamophobia, and racism earlier that year. This was initially done in a Google Document that has unfortunately since been lost to time. Despite this, screenshots do exist.

Billie has self diagnosed himself with ADHD, and used this as an excuse to be abelis towards others and promote hate against those with disabilities. Here is proof below:

It should be noted that despite Billie's "apology" and "departure", this could not be further from the truth. It is clear that Wizard Watch Studios and Billie are attempting to cover up this situation and pretend it never happened. This can be inferred by Billie's apology being taken down as of July 2026, and it being blocked from being archived on archive.org.

Hi Explorers,
I want to address my resignation as Community Manager and the concerns that have been raised about me over the past month. I've written a full statement explaining what has happened.
You can read the statement here:

While the document itself and the way it was formatted is lost to time, archives of the text do exist. The following is Billie's "apology" restored, albeit not in the same format it originally was:

BILLIE'S STATEMENT

Dear all,

To begin, I want to start by mentioning the screenshots and the document that might be made public soon. Those messages are my own words and I accept full responsibility for them. This statement will delve into what I have recently said, but this is not an attempt of me trying to justify what I've said or make excuses, but rather give personal context as to why I said and did what I did. I want to be clear that, even though I was aware of what I was saying at the time, my comments were cruel, offensive and are not representative of the person I am. I apologise deeply for all the pain my comments and my actions may have caused.

My comments were made in private conversations where sometimes, edgy humour was often used. I came across as rude and insensitive, even though I was attempting to blend in and be viewed as humorous and accepted. The jokes were crude and stupid attempts to fit in and they don't represent my actual views or values. I fully own up to my immense regret about them.

I feel it is important for me to be open about some of the reasons that led to my actions and address claims made about me. Firstly, I am not white - I am mixed and I thought that being black gave me the right to use some offensive terms casually (i.e. the N word and the B slur towards Mexicans), but now I see how damaging it was. Secondly, I grew up in a Muslim-Catholic household - although I identify as a Catholic, I believed that my background gave me the freedom to joke about insensitive topics, despite knowing it was wrong. However, my background does not justify the nasty things I said and I'm sworn to never do or say those things again. I shouldn't have used my background as a shield to make the comments that I did. I apologise to anyone I have offended by using such terms and I did not intend to cause harm.

Additionally, I did make ableist comments (i.e. the r-slur and comments towards someone who was temporarily in a wheelchair) because I thought that, having severe anxiety (which is something that runs in my family), somehow made it 'okay'. I realise now that was thoughtless and harmful and this situation has forced me to confront how careless I was with my words. I understand how triggering the ableist comments I made, more specifically the r-slur, can be to many and I apologise deeply to anyone who I may have offended by using it. I also want to accept full responsibility for my insulting comments about staff members in Wizard Watch Studios. I regret allowing my anger to have such an impact on how I viewed and spoke about other people; that behaviour was inappropriate and disrespectful. I also want to express my sincere regret for using the r-word when referring to someone with a disability. That was inappropriate and I sincerely apologise to the individual I aimed it at and to Wizard Watch staff members who I offended with my words.

For me, this has been a challenging time. I did not want to bring my personal struggles into this, but I feel as if I have no choice and that it is necessary for me to share so that you can understand the mindset I've been in lately for the past 4 years. My loved ones have been really ill and it has caused me a lot of stress. It's been incredibly painful to watch them struggle while feeling like there's nothing I can do to fix it. I found comfort and escape in online spaces as a result of my struggles to manage. I said things I'm not proud of and I apologise deeply for using humour and making harmful comments that hurt other people; it was wrong of me to do so.

I also need to address the claim that I have several alt accounts on Discord. This is not true. I've only ever made two alt accounts, which I used to join servers I'd been banned from or to join servers I was not interested in joining on my main account. I don't use those accounts anymore, aside from one stupid moment when I made another N-word joke. I know how bad this sounds and I regret it deeply.

The document that is planned to be shared in question is not being shared in good faith. It is being used by people (some of whom have previously made jokes and committed actions of a similar nature) who want me removed from my position in Wizard Watch Studios and I have been threatened with its release as a form of blackmail. I accept that I have made serious mistakes (this is not me trying to shift the blame), but as a Catholic, I believe it is important to own up to your actions and show you are willing to change. I have spent the past few weeks reflecting on my behaviour and I can assure you all I am not the same person I was when those messages were written.

I apologise deeply to people who my comments may have offended or hurt. I know that no apology can take back what I have said and therefore I aim to show that I have learnt from this and that I will not make the same mistakes again. I'm so proud of the community my team and I have created at Wizard Watch Studios and I never want my actions or words to cause anyone to feel insulted or alienated.

It pains me to say this, but a couple of weeks ago I agreed to step down from my Community Manager role at Wizard Watch Studios after a long and thoughtful discussion with WWS leads and WWS staff as we believe this is best to allow me to reflect hard on my actions and to allow myself to change. It is not a role I will be coming back to, so that I can grow from this experience and reflect hard on my actions.

I'd like to apologise to my fellow developers at Wizard Watch Studios, most importantly Ella, Neos, Tank and Mini. I know that what I've said and my actions have caused deep disappointment and I understand that I've broken your trust. I have let you all down with my words and actions. I am incredibly proud of Wizard Watch Studios and the team we have built together and it really pains me to know that I've caused harm when my intention was never to do so.

To end this document, I'd like to clarify that I'm not proud of what I said. I've thought, I've changed and I'm still changing. I ask for the chance to show you that I can do better; not just through this statement, but through my actions and how I contribute to Piggy and Wizard Watch Studios moving forward.

Thank you to those who have held me accountable and to those who have supported me despite my mistakes. I will not take that trust for granted again.

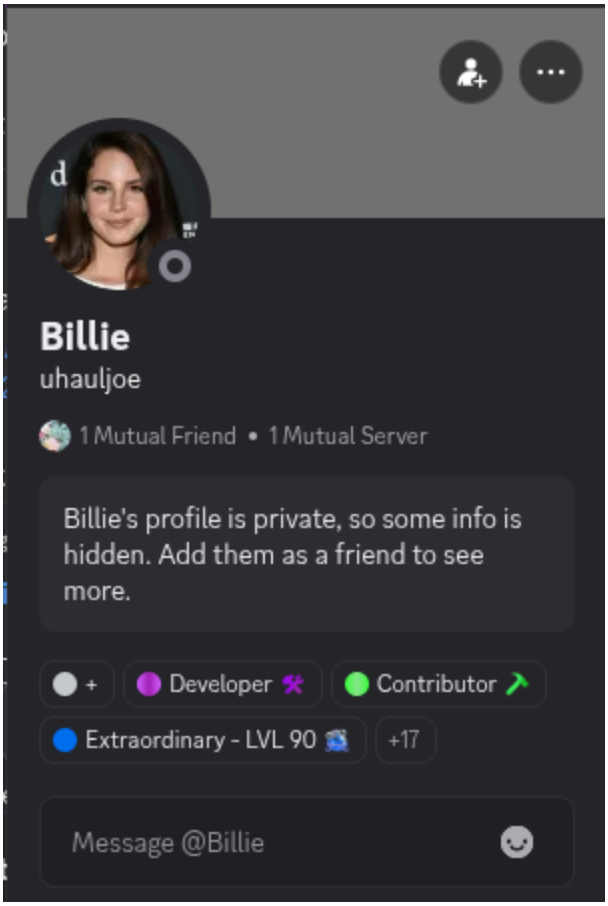
Thank you for reading,
Billie

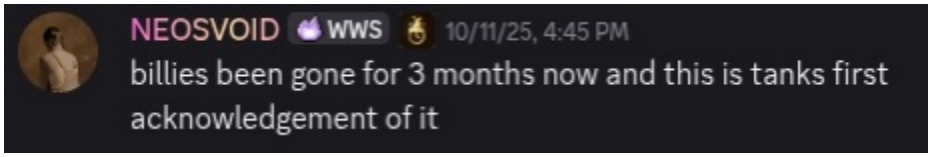
It should be noted that despite “leaving”, Billie still has the active developer role in the WWS discord, and formerly, the Piggy discord until he left the server during an unknown time during summer 2026.

Billie’s profile in the WWS discord as of July 2026. Note how the developer role is present.



It should additionally be noted that ever since the departure, there are examples of the current head of WWS, NEOSV0ID, lying about Billie's involvement in the group. This was done both publicly in the WWS discord server and privately to official WWS partners.

A message sent in October 2025 about Billie being "gone" despite having the active developer role.



A message sent to a former staff member of the official Piggy: Branched Realities wiki regarding a vandal edit. Notice how Neos states that Billie "hasn't been affiliated with [WWS] for months" despite Billie having the developer role in said server.

Hi
Messaging you regarding the Branched Realities Wiki - Someone brought to my attention that MsPoggers is vandalizing the Wiki by doing stuff like this - Idk if this was allowed by you or not but it kind of paints a bad image onto our brand, Billie isn't and hasn't been affiliated with us for months now

How you can help

If you've made it this far, we assume that you read the document fully and are aware of what the developers have done. You may be asking how you can help with this situation, and how you can spread awareness. Luckily, we have some suggestions for you.

Firstly, do not play Piggy. At all. Playing only supports the developers during this time, so it is recommended that you do not play any game related to the franchise. This includes Piggy, Intercity, and any other games created by MiniToon or games that he was involved in.

Secondly, spread the document further and let people know about the misdeeds mentioned here. The more people that know and the more people that talk about it, the more chances we have at getting something done about these situations, and the higher chance we will get an explanation.

Thirdly, do not harass anyone mentioned in this document, including both the people who were mentioned in this document and the people who have told their stories here. To quote from Piggy itself, "If you hurt him, you are no better than him. It would only turn you into what you hate most about him."

Fourth, save copies of this document. There is a non-zero chance that we will be threatened with legal action for even speaking about this situation, and we may have to take the document down as a result. However, if people were to make copies of the document and spread these around as well, the document can continue to exist and be shown to many more people.

To those discussed here

To any representatives of MiniToon, we are not backing down until something is done about this situation. Whether it be an apology, an explanation, or even some counterevidence to the situation, we will not cease our efforts in exposing this situation until something conclusive and concrete is said on the matter. So, do us all a favor and just be honest with the community that has loved and cherished all that you've done for half a decade.
